

Landed: International Student First-Month Experience Survey

Target respondents: Current or recently graduated JCU Singapore international students

Estimated completion time: approximately 5 minutes

Introduction and Consent

We are conducting this short anonymous survey for a JCU Singapore university project called Landed. The project aims to create a clear, step-by-step web guide that helps new international students manage important tasks before arrival and during their first month in Singapore.

This survey asks about the tasks you found difficult, the information sources you used, and the features that may be useful in a first-month guide.

The survey does not collect your name, student ID, email address, or sensitive personal information. Your responses will be used only for academic project research. Participation is voluntary, and you may stop at any time.

By continuing, you agree to participate in this anonymous survey.
